SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1835.

The Boston Daily Advertiser in a long article headed "The Whig candidate for the Presidency," kills off all competitors except Mr Webster and Mr Clay. He treats Gen. Harrison, who is really much less obnoxious to the citizens of the Union than either the Godlike of the East or the table orator of the West, with the most unceremonious rudeness; and it does not even condescend to notice Judge White as any longer a Whig candidate. Among these sage cogitations of the respectable Daily, we find the following remark:

"This (the Whig) party, if it is to continue to exist, must be maintained for the support of certain known principles; which form the bond of union among its members."

If this be the condition on which the existence of the Whig party depends, we may consider it already defunct. We have been a close observer of the course of the Whig party, and had come to a very different conclusion, viz: that its existence depended upon the support of no known principles, but upon the abandonment of all, being simply an association of reckless political gamblers and rogues.

Travellers.—A hint to foreigners may be found in that good old adage, that those who find fault abroad always fare ill at home. With how much propriety will this proverb apply to those lying Jonahs, spewed upon the shores of America by the Botany Bay whalers, who have the audacity to denounce judgments against our country; and, endeavoring to promote disunion, prophesy our downfall. Their impudence would frighten a butcher's bull-dog out of town!

We shrewdly suspect that the New World is favored by a class of travellers sentenced by the Old one to New Wales. Judge Lynch, if they are not careful, will examine their passports, and see whether they are issued by the Court of Old Bailey, or St James.

Where is Thompson?

Political changes.—Because, like the sun we cannot note their progress, we are too prone to doubt their occurrence. To judge of the future as well as the present, we must look to the past. To form an opinion of what the vote of New England will be at the next presidential election, compare the present state of public sentiment with that of 1828-9, when Maine gave the sole and solitary vote of New England for Gen. Jackson.—Will there be a single vote against his successor? We have no fear on the subject; and our foes seem to have as little hope.—Let us see what the next session will bring about.

Mr Lauriat made another successful ascent from Castle Garden on Wednesday. His daughter attempted to go up with him, but the ascensive power was not sufficient, and she was landed on the rocks outside the Battery wall. Mr L. then went up alone.—He passed over Brooklyn, Newtown, Flushing, and Prince's Garden, and landed about 6 o'clock, on Long Neck, North Hempstead, on the farm of J. W. Thorne, Esq. His greatest elevation was 9000 feet—400 feet above white clouds, which were rapidly passing under him.

A Stockholder in the Steamboats President and Benjamin Franklin, says if the statement recently made, in a Providence paper we believe, that the boats between that city and New York have divided 45 per cent per annum, is true, he is sadly deficient in his dividends, as he has only received 30 per cent in 7 years. We thought the story a large one at the time; but did not suppose that it was as far from the truth as it now appears to be.

A present worth having.—King Otho of Oude has recently presented to His Majesty William the Fourth, a bedstead and table of solid gold, two chairs of solid silver, both richly chased and ornamented—two elephants—two Arabian horses, and two dwarf buffaloes—valued at £80,000. We hope the donor will remember us—he may keep his elephants and buffaloes, and welcome, if he will send us a gold headstead and chair.

Maine Election.—Gov. Dunlap's majority will fall but little short of FIFTEEN THOUSAND—the Senate will consist of twenty democrats and five federalists—the House of Representatives of eighty-one democrats, and forty federalists—and the democratic candidates for county treasurers have been elected in nine out of ten counties. We wonder if the Whigs will ever recover from their "APATHY."

Judge McLean has formally declined being a candidate for the Presidency—the reason assigned is that if he were to suffer himself to be considered in that light, the fact might contribute to bring the election into the House of Representatives, from which body, he says, he would not take the office.

Legislative.—In the house, yesterday, Mr Foster, of Brimfield, moved that a message be sent to the Senate, requesting the concurrence of that branch in an order for the return of chapter 13, "of certain state officers," to the House of Representatives, which was negatived.

Wednesday's Journal of Commerce contained three hundred and sixty-five new advertisements, besides auctions and steamboats;—a greater number than ever before appeared in a New York paper in one day.

Land Sale.—There will be a public land sale at the land office in Fort Wayne, Indiana, to commence Oct. 12th, and continue two weeks.

A great anti-abolition meeting was held in Hartford on Wednesday, at which a series of spirited resolutions was adopted.

Mrs Andrews has a rare bill for her Concert this evening, and one which cannot fail to attract a large audience.

Peale's Orang Outang died of inflammation of the lungs.

A Sign.—Gen. Harrison was recently thrown from his horse, and severely injured.

The Eagle shot from the vane of the Hollis street Church on Thursday, turned out to be a hen hawk.

For the Boston Morning Post.

Robert Rantoul Jr.—Where is there to be found a young man who may with more propriety be styled the champion of liberty than Robert Rantoul Jr.? Where can be found an individual who is so unwearied in his exertions for the support of all those measures which have always been dear to every lover of freedom? Yet like every other true disciple of liberal principles, Mr Rantoul has been obliged to endure a share of persecution that would have crushed any individual who was not possessed of extraordinary abilities, as well as extraordinary force of character. Observe, fellow citizens, with what eagerness all the hiring presses of a monied aristocracy take advantage of every opportunity to cast a slur upon his character, and to ridicule the noble and honorable course which he has pursued ever since (luckily for the cause of equal rights) he became a member of the state legislature. The Essex-Register ridicules him for his much speaking—yet there are few members of the house who might not be made wiser by listening to the least important of his remarks. Although a new member, he is very far from being a novice in matters of legislation and political economy—of no individual in public life, can it be more truly remarked, that the more he talks the more will he be esteemed by those who listen to him. Rantoul cannot talk himself out—his intellectual resources are inexhaustible. He is no pedant—his acquisitions are not merely professional—his mind is abundantly stored with information in all the sciences; and what is still more remarkable, a more original mind can rarely be found. Rantoul is truly a man of genius—and they who condemn him for his much speaking, are afraid of the influence of his powerful and original oratory. There are hundreds who speak not half so much as Rantoul, who might with more justice be accused of talking too much. It is not the mere abstract quantity of words which a man utters that ought to be a criterion for determining whether he talks too much—he does not talk too much who says nothing but what is worthy of being heard. Finally, whether we consider Mr Rantoul as a powerful and original orator—an able, ingenious and disinterested politician—a zealous defender of democratic principles and a bold champion of reformation, or in private life, as a man of irreproachable morals and unimpeachable integrity, it may be truly asserted that there is no man in public life who is more worthy of the people's confidence and support.

A Home Anecdote.—In the Temperance Convention yesterday, while the subject of total abstinence from wine was under discussion, a gentleman illustrated the reluctance of good society to give up their costly wine cellars, at the same time that they exhibit the gin drinkers to take to cold water alone, by the following apt anecdote. Three men were brought before a magistrate, charged with drunkenness. The Magistrate inquired of the first what he got drunk on? The answer was whiskey. Then I fine you thirty shillings, for it is a great shame for a man to get drunk on whiskey. And what did you get drunk on? asked the Magistrate of the second. New Rum, was the answer. That is not quite so bad, but no man ought to get drunk on New Rum, and I fine you twenty shillings. The third was asked what made him drunk, and answered that he got drunk on brandy punch! Ah! says the Magistrate, then I fine you nothing, for I sometimes get drunk on brandy punch myself.

Another member of the Convention, stated that the greatest obstacle to the Temperance Reformation, was the attachment of the wealthy circles in Boston to wines. He related as a fact, that the wine bill of a single individual, for six weeks at a hotel in this city, was one hundred dollars.

All this is very well, but there is one fashionable source of intemperance which the Convention did not seem to think of, and which would have produced no little jarring had it been broached. We mean those public revels which have been held the past year or two in honor of what was called whig victories, the 4th of July and other occasions. It is of little use for gentlemen to make fine speeches on Temperance, and then sit down to a table in public, where an hundred toasts are steeped in as many bumpers. For instance, who could fail while the anti-wine discussion was going on yesterday, to recollect that the President of that most respectable Convention, but a little more than a year ago presided at a dinner on Boston Common, where SIX THOUSAND BOTTLES OF WINE WERE DRUNK.

What a lecture on temperance this is to present to the delirium tremens frequenters of the grog shops!—Give us your six thousand bottles of wine, drank on Boston Common, they would say, and you are welcome to our potatoe juice and essence of molasses.—Advocate.

The Comet.—The New York American of Monday evening says, "Halley's Comet was observed by Prof Anderson, Columbia College, on the morning of Saturday the 19th, a little before 2 o'clock visible to the naked eye, and again this morning still more distinctly, about the same hour. It may be readily seen, he informs us, with an ordinary Opera glass, by any one who knows its place. It should be looked for in a range of two stars of the third magnitude, in the knees of the Twins, and as much above the higher of these stars as that is above the lower. About 1 o'clock this Constellation may be seen a little to the north of the eastern part of the Heavens."

Attack of an Alligator.—A young man by the name of Norton, resident at a place called Brandy Branch, about twenty-five miles from here, was bitten in the hand and arm by an Alligator, about two weeks since, and a bone fractured. We understand that he was endeavoring to get some water from a stream, and while clearing the surface with his hand, the Alligator seized it, and he was only saved by gouging the animal's eyes, upon which he relinquished his hold. The young man is much injured, and it may yet be necessary to perform amputation. The Alligator was afterwards taken and measured almost ten feet in length.—Jacksonville, (E. Florida) Courier.

Abolition Insolence.—A copy of the Liberator, dated the 15th ult. teeming with abuse of the South, and declaring the South to be guilty of "theft and murder and acts," and that "its threats and warnings" merit nothing but "supreme contempt and utter scorn," was received by mail, yesterday, in this city, in an envelope, directed to the Clerk of the City Council, with the most threatening language in pencil mark on the margin.—Charleston Courier.

The statement of the death of Mr Picard, of the house of Fesser, Picard & Co., Havana, must have been incorrect. It was from a letter dated 4th instant, while Mr E. Fesser, his partner, now in this city, has a letter from Mr P. dated 5th instant. A Mr Picard, engraver, died at Havana early in August last, and was undoubtedly the individual referred to in the letter.—Daily.

Passing yesterday by the ruins of the great fire in Fulton, Ann and Nassau streets, which occurred on the 12th of August, we observed that in some of the cellars the fire was still burning. Most of the rubbish has been cleared away, preparatory to the erection of new buildings.—Jour. Com.

Lord Lowther, eldest son to the Earl of Lonsdale has put an advertisement in the newspapers, denying the truth of a report that he was to be married to Miss Strachan, a rich heiress with a dowry of £500,000.

On Friday, the King reached his 70th year; his wife is only 43; it is January and June, after a fashion. A grand entertainment was given at Windsor Castle, on the occasion, and also by the chief members of the cabinet in London. The metropolis was brilliantly illuminated, and all went off very well.

Prince George of Cumberland, and Prince George of Cambridge, have been made Knights of the Garter.—Think of a brace of knights—fifteen years of age.

Some of the newspapers say that the Marquis of Douro, eldest son of the duke of Wellington, is going to the camp at Kalisch. Others, apparently better informed, say that he is on the eve of marriage with the daughter of Lord Stuart de Rothesay. The Marquis is a gay young gentleman, with precious little brains. He is a colonel in the British service.

Taglioni, the famous danseuse, having "quite a brute of a husband"—has lost all the earnings of years. She is now 33 years old, and must begin the world once more.

Charles Kean does not go to America this year. On dit—the match between him and Ellen Tree is off. She is 32 and Kean no more than 26.

The Hon. Mrs. Norton, the poetess, is now out of danger, but has been very ill with a brain fever.

The Late John Philpot Curran instanced to the writer of this, as true and genuine specimens of the Irish Ball, or confusion of mind, the two following:—

Curran was one day proceeding to a grand Drawing-room at the Castle. Upon that occasion there was much confusion and jostling amongst the carriages.—Suddenly, Curran let down one of the front glasses of his chariot, and cried out to his coachman,—"stop, stop! the pole of the carriage behind us has just forced in the back of ours." "Then be easy your honour; it's all right again; our pole has just gone into the back of the carriage before us."

Such of the inhabitants of the villages and small towns distant from Dublin as can afford to purchase shoes, prefer to get themselves supplied with that article of costume from the capital. For this purpose each person has a last (or, as they call it, a form), made of the exact size and shape of his foot; and one in want of shoes will take advantage of a journey to Dublin, by any friend or neighbour, to send the form, in order that a pair may be fitted to it.

Curran's servant happened to be going to Dublin on business for his master, and was charged by several of his acquaintances with commissions of this nature, each furnishing him with his form accordingly.

"And be sure," said Curran to his man, "be sure you buy shoes for yourself at the same time: I shall be very angry if you don't, for you are much in want of them."

"Sure and I will your honor," was the man's reply. On his return home Curran inquired whether he had bought himself shoes.

"No, and indeed, but I didn't, your honor."

"And why did you not, sirrah? Didn't I give you positive orders to do so?"

"And, please your honor, and didn't I go to Dublin and forget to take my form along with me?"

It need hardly be remarked upon this, that it had never occurred to the poor fellow that his own foot would have served his purpose at least as well as the model of it.—Court Journal.

A Remarkably Caseous Cheese.—A Colonel Meacham of Richland, in this State, has made this season 300 cheeses weighing 125 pounds a piece.—He has one which weighs fourteen hundred pounds, and several others that weigh 800 pounds a piece. The largest one—which is supposed to beat the mammoth cheese presented to Jefferson by the loyal town of Cheshire, Mass.—he intends for Gen. Jackson; the other big ones are to be presented to the Vice-President, to Gov. Marcy, and one to each of the cities of New York, Albany, Troy, and Rochester. The aldermen of the several cities, we suppose, will discuss the question of the proper disposal of these cheeses, at the Council Board, as they are the mouth-pieces of the people.—N. Y. Trans.

Criminal Trial.—A special Court, consisting of 3 Justices of the Peace, was convened on Wednesday, for the purpose of trying Sampson, a negro slave, belonging to Mr John Boyd, of this county, for having attempted, on Monday last, to commit a rape on the body of a respectable girl, not more than 12 years old, whose parents reside in this vicinity. The proof was clear, and of the most unquestionable character, so much so, that the counsel for the prisoner declined making any defence, and the jury, without retiring from the box, returned a verdict of GUILTY.

The offence, when committed by a colored person, being capital by the laws of this State, the prisoner was sentenced to be hung on Friday the 25th inst.—Nashville Republican.

Worcester and Hartford Railroad.—Alexander C Twining, Esq., Chief Engineer on the Hartford and New Haven Railroad, has been employed by the Commissioners of the Worcester and Hartford Railroad to make a thorough working survey of the direct route between Hartford and Worcester, which will be commenced on the 25th inst. Mr Twining has already made a walking survey, and has reported favorably as to the practicability of the route.—Trans.

A fatal wound was inflicted lately upon the body of a negro man, with a dirk, by a young prostitute in Cincinnati, with whom he was attempting to take liberties, not in accordance with her notions of propriety.—He died almost instantly, the instrument having penetrated his heart. The girl, who is apparently not more than 15 years of age, was examined, and committed for trial.

Trade Strike.—The journeymen shoemakers of Pittsburg have struck for an advance of ten per cent on their wages. They have been working on a scale of prices that was agreed upon seven years ago, since which time, the cost of provisions has greatly increased.

The U. S. Philadelphia Gazette states that some villain on Wednesday morning, stole from the desk of the receiving teller of the Girard Bank, the exchange book of the Moyamensing Bank, containing two thousand dollars. The cashier of the former bank has offered a reward of $500 for the recovery of the property and the conviction of the thief.—N. Y. Gaz.

NOTICE.—All persons who are inclined to contribute wearing apparel, &c. to aid the sufferers by the late fire at Charleston, are informed that contributions will be received at WM CALDWELL'S, No 24 Washington st, and E. P. PAINE & CO'S, No 53 Hanover st, will be gratefully acknowledged. eptw

TO ACCOMMODATE GENTLEMEN from Boston and vicinity, who may wish to attend the celebration in Hingham Monday, the steamer General Lincoln will leave Foster's wharf, Boston, at 8 o'clock and 11 o'clock, A. M., and leave Hingham at 6 o'clock, P. M. and be accompanied by the Band.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Reduction of Salaries.—Contrary to general expectation there was no discussion in the House of Representatives, yesterday, upon the subject of the salaries of the various state officers. On Thursday forenoon Mr Robinson made a report, that no alteration ought to be made in the salaries at this time, and this report was read and made the order of the day for yesterday; but it appears, by the Journal, that before adjourning on Thursday, the House, on motion of Mr Foster, of Brimfield, dispensed with its rule, and proceeded to the consideration of the report, which was thereupon accepted, and the chapter (13) passed to be engrossed in concurrence.

It is said, the motion for suspending the rule by which reports of committees, are laid on the table for one day, was passed after a large number of the members had retired from the Hall, under an impression that no action would be had on the report till yesterday. Some surprise being expressed, in conversation, by members opposed to the accepting of the Report, when they discovered that the subject had been so unexpectedly disposed of on Thursday, Mr Foster, of Brimfield, yesterday forenoon, made a motion, "that a message be sent to the Senate requesting the concurrence of that branch in an order for the return of chapter 13, of certain State officers, from the Secretary's office to the House of Representatives." Mr Rantoul, (one of the members taken by surprise by the unexpected action of the House on Thursday), moved that the question on the motion for the return of the Chapter should be taken by yeas and nays, which being done, the motion was found to be rejected.

Scandalous, if true.—It is stated that the Rev. Dr Beman of Troy, at present a very warm and noisy abolitionist, was a slave holder in 1822, and that he was "so hard a master, that his severity was a neighborly rebuke." He was not in favor of abolition until he had pocketed the money for his slaves, and could consequently advocate the doctrine without detriment to his personal interests. A cotemporary very justly says that he should be compelled to carry his professions into practice by paying the necessary expense of the immediate abolition of the slaves whom he sold.

Haskett, the pedestrian, has got his name into the New York papers, in connexion with the African Association of London, &c. &c. In our view this Mr Haskett is a great bore, and in no way deserving of one half the notice which he has received.

☞ We notice that steps have been taken in Salem and other towns to raise contributions for the relief of the sufferers by the late fire at Charleston.

Emigration from Western Virginia is going on at a great rate.

A man was recently convicted at the St Edmund's Assizes, (Eng.) for a murder committed in 1817. He has had a long credit.

A CARD.—Mrs B Peterson and Mrs Hardy tender their thanks to the Fire Department, and the citizens generally, for their exertions in rescuing their property from fire on Thursday morning.

BOSTON TYPOGRAPHICAL ASSOCIATION.—The members of the Boston Typographical Society, and all others of the profession, who feel disposed to join them, are hereby notified that there will be a meeting held at Election Hall, Franklin Avenue, THIS EVENING, Sept 26.

From the Exeter (English) Paper.

DIED.—On the evening of Sunday last, the 14th inst, at his residence in South Quay, James Paddon, Esq. Mr Paddon succeeded the late Organist and celebrated Composer William Jackson, Esq., with whom he was a favorite pupil, and who he succeeded in the post of organist of the Cathedral Choir for the long space of 32 years, and it has fallen to the lot of few men to have acquired greater honor for themselves, or to have seen the reputation of the Choir committed to their charge more firmly established, than has been the case with Mr Paddon. Disguised under a gentleman with the correct air and fine taste that were distinguished qualities in Mr Paddon, the Choir of the Cathedral of Exeter has atained a point of excellence that by universal consent places it among the foremost of similar establishments in Europe, and confers on him who has so eminently contributed to it, a never dying fame. How much the public generally and the lovers of music particularly have been indebted to Mr Paddon, need not here be said, since none can forget the magnificent musical treats that have so repeatedly been provided in this city, of which, but for him, it is scarcely probable the public would so often have had opportunity to partake. In matters of this kind he was the tasteful, the indefatigable, the skilful caterer, and it is to be feared, often with more gratification to others than profit to himself. In private life no man was held in more general respect: he was the most affectionate of fathers, kind and warm hearted friend; and as well as in his domestic life, so in a still much larger circle, was his life deeply and severely felt.

The following facts have been received by private communication to the deceased Brother, Mr John Paddon of this City.—During the election in the City of Exeter, Mr. Paddon was met by a crowd of rioters—and so effected her nervous system that she died in a few hours—and her affectionate husband never smiled after-wards, but pined away with grief till death put an end to his sufferings. He was carried by the doctor to the Deans' Hospital in the Cathedral, with every respect for his virtues.

PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH

Corns!

WILL find in the use of the ALBION CORN PLASTER one of the most efficacious remedies known for the troublesome complaint, as hundreds of thousands can, and are ready to testify to its having answered a better purpose than any thing they had ever used. This application never causes the least pain, although it softens the corn, and draws it out by the roots. It gives immediate ease as soon as applied, and is as thorough as it is gentle in its effects.

REMARKABLE CURES!

A gentleman near Greenfield writes—"It has cured a Corn which I had for years, and which had become a great trouble. (After trying various other remedies) and having received such relief myself, I advise all, who ever obtain the complaint, to make trial of the ALBION CORN PLASTER, and I have no doubt they will soon be as ready to express their gratitude as I am."

An Agent, in writing for a further supply of the Albion Corn Plaster, observes—"I have made sale of all you sent me, and find the article to be all it professes to be, as those who have used it find it to prove the best article for corns they have ever met with."

Price 50 cents a box, with directions.
